What the Wrestlers, Boxers and Base Ball Artists Are Doing.

Antone Kao says: I'm going to run in the Maui marathon. If I win I'll get what's coming to me, and that's more than I have done in Honolulu, sometimes. We should like to have Kao, but this race on the Fourth is for Maui Amateurs, and if Kao entered he would scare the others out.

Yesterday afternoon Charles Barron dispatched a letter to P. A. Rohrabacher, who is at present residing at Wailuku, inviting him to take part in the marathon race which Barron is hoping to pull off on July 2d at Athletic Park. Rohrabacher is the "dark horse" whom Barron spoke of earlier in the week, but yesterday Barron declared his identity. Rohrabacher is a German, and has run in several marathons in San Francisco. He has records to substantiate his claims, and will no doubt be an additional attraction if he agrees to take part in the race proposed.—Star Barron certainly is the candy kid with the hot air, as Rohrabacher says he never ran a marathon or any other distance in his life.

George Moriarty is one of the Detroit players who believes that it behooves the Tigers to win every possible game they can right now, if they are to keep ahead of the world's champion Athletics. "Lots of people seem to think that we have the pennant already won," said Moriarty, "but I don't believe any of the boys on our team feel that way. Down back there in the road there's a cloud of dust, and occasionally when that dust cloud lifts you can, by looking closely, make out the tall form of one Cornelius McGillicuddy. There are other dust clouds back there in the road, and they are likely to get nearer to us as the season advances. Of course, we have a pretty nice lead at present, but these extra victories will come in a little handy later in the season when the other championship contenders settle down." Moriarty is playing a wonderful game at third this year, and is again exhibiting that splendid pluck that characterized his work in the championship series of 1909, when, regardless of cuts and bruises innumerable, he withstood the savage attacks of the Pirate base runners without flinching.

When Papke was in disgrace in San Francisco owing to a bad-looking fight with Joe Thomas, he was asked how he accounted for the fact that in some of his fights he seemed the personification of force and speed, while in others he was as slow and inoffensive as the traditional ice wagon. "I can't tell why it is so, but I'm willing to admit it's a true bill," said Papke. "There are times when I simply can't get started, try as I may. I was that way with Joe Thomas and I was that way when I fought Ketchell both times in San Francisco." From which it will be seen that Papke is quite ready to admit that his ring performances are not by any means of an even character. It was often said that Ketchell was the only man of his poundage Papke really feared and for this reason, now that Ketchell has passed away, it is believed Papke will make things hum in the middleweight division when he returns to his native land. But it is as well to remember that Sam Langford keeps insisting it is soon for Death Claims Clarence M. Roberts From a Sorrowing Community.

The shadow of death never fails to cast a gloom over a community, but there are circumstances which cause that gloom to deepen. It is probable that never before in Wailuku has there been such a widespread feeling of sorrow at losing a fellow citizen, as last Monday when the remains of Mr. Roberts were followed to the grave. Everyone in the community knew him, and to him was to honor and respect him. Those under him on the plantation, both Orientals and Europeans loved him, while his associates looked upon him as a true man. Mr. Roberts gave up only a few days before he died, and here again his character was shown. He had been ailing a long time, but rather than alarm his friends he bore his sickness in silence until he could bear it no longer. An operation was performed, but his system had been too much weakened, and he could not rally sufficiently to recover.

Clarence Melbourne Roberts was born at Glenwood, Yarmouth County, Nova Scotia, December 7th, 1870. He began work first as a carpenter, then was in the express business, and for several years was connected with the traction lines in San Francisco. He came to the Islands about ten years ago, was five years at Waipahu, Oahu, on the Ewa plantation, and on April 5th completed five years of service with the Wailuku Sugar Company, having been head luna of the Waikapu division during this time. He began his work here under the management of Mr. C. B. Wells. In June 1910, Mr. Roberts was elected to the trusteeship of the Wailuku Union Church of which he was a faithful member. He was also a member of the Golden West Lodge of Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Mr. Roberts leaves a wife, a son, Weymouth, who the past year has been preparing for college at the Oberlin preparatory school. Mrs. Roberts' mother is still living in Nova Scotia.

The floral offerings at the funeral were gorgeous, and were a loving tribute of many sorrowing friends.

The pall-bearers were D. H. Case, District Attorney, Judge McKay, H. B. Penhallow, Manager Wailuku Sugar Co., C. E. Copeland, Leslie West, E. E. Battelle, Geo. Wilbur and A. Gross.

The Maui Marathon.

It is important that those intending to enter the marathon on the morning of the Fourth send in their entries to the Maui News at the earliest possible date, so that those having the race in charge, can make arrangements to care for the runners while on the road. It must not be forgotten that all runners must be examined by a physician before starting in the race. There will be at least three prizes, and the first prize will be $50.

him to come in as a middleweight, and if Langford goes about proving his claim in a business-like way it will seem as though Papke has a second Ketchell to reckon with. Papke has now defeated the best men in Australia and England and can lay claim to the middleweight title of the world with some reason.

Racy Paragraphs From the Capitol On Current Topics.

(By Oscar Brenton.)

I notice that the name of Mrs. John Hall is not on the list of teachers assigned to schools in the Territory. This is the lady who walked out of Kalihiwaena school the other day when Principal Cox "threw at her" a rather sarcastic, not to say impertinent note, after he had been sustained by the Commissioners of Education. Taking it by and large this is rather rubbing it in. All of the teachers at Kalihiwaena were asked to contribute literature bearing on the discipline of the school. I have been told that Mrs. Hall was the last to yield, holding out until Superintendent Pope insisted that she send her opinion in writing for the good of the service. "I know not what the truth may be; I tell it as 'twas told to me."

I note, now, that Secretary Gibson says the letter was more in detail than any from the other teachers, so much in detail that it, apparently, did not please the powers. At all events when it came to passing out positions for the season to come Mrs. Hall was not in the running and this after Pope had compelled her to write an honest criticism. The trouble seems to be that Cox is oversupplied with friends and Pope is not. Hence the protection given by the latter to Cox. No one questions the ability which Mrs. Hall has. There are few who do not recognize her as one of the most capable teachers in the county but ability has no chance against pull where the head of the department has the last say.

I heard something from a Compton sympathizer that does not surprise me in the light of events subsequent to her "advance on Richmond." It seems that the department has to pay her a salary up to the end of August. She was engaged for the Hilo school and was transferred at the will of the department, rather than on her own request. Of the two schools offered she selected Wailua because she liked the principal and accepted the assignment. Before going down, I understand, she has told this to her friends. Mr. Gibson was sent to the principal with the information that the assignment had been made but that if she did not want her she had only to make a protest to Pope. And she says Pope sent Gibson to Mrs. Churchill with that message. If any part of that is true it seems to me Pope must be a bad one. He has been proven unable to cope with the duties of superintendent of instruction. As a teacher in the College of Hawaii he did well and should return there.

It looks very like a crusade and the men who have been bringing in the poppy-glads via Hilo and Kahului will be off for the tall timber or I am a buzzard in search of carrion. The other day the federal lightning struck the S. S. Mexican 'midships, 'tween decks abaft the shaft and in the neighborhood of the galley. The cook was on the line of least resistance and consequently felt the shock. I have no information to this effect but I would not be surprised a few weeks hence to learn that the lightning was generated somewhere in the vicinity of Honolulu. Smugglers are on the run these days and everyone is trying to get the ear of the district attorney before some other

Ball Game at Haiku.

Last Sunday the Haiku ball team entertained a team from Paia, and a rattling good game was the result. The Haiku team won out by a score of 5 to 4. The following players composed the Haiku team:

Joe Morris, pitcher; Ah Ki, catcher; Kaikai, first base; Chas. Awa, second base; Ting Young, third base; Aiao, shortstop; Julio, left field; Ah Kai, center field; R. K. Kaholokula, right field.

After the game was over the Haikus escorted the visiting team to the home of Mr. Kaholokula where a luau was spread, and a general good time was the result.

welcher shows his nose in the sheriff's office. I am prepared not to be surprised to hear of others than Chief Barker looking for bail when the Wilhelmina arrives in port. Keep your ear to the ground for the next stroke may hit your town, or the one nearest thereto, if there is a steamer in port when the next arrest for smuggling is made. While on the subject of smuggling, which seems correlative, let me say that a wonderful piece of evidence was introduced in a perjury case the other day. It was one wherein an unfortunate drunk was used as a dummy by the liquor
